Tags are for identification purposes. They are meant to explain the music in more detail. For instance, it is common to provide the artist, album, title, song, genre, and date. You can use tags for searching, sorting and organizing music. The most common use for tags is to add them to music, however, tagging can be used for anything, i.e., to rename files, to create a list, to sort music, or to create podcasts. Tags should not be confused with ID3 tags, which are the standard for MP3 files. Tags are only used for identification purposes. Features: "Simple to Use" interface for easy use.
