clusters. The optical properties of three acetylcholine receptor clusters in nature are investigated. A non-empirical method for the calculation of IR spectra for acetylcholine receptor clusters is presented. The results of the model cluster calculations are very similar to those obtained from a tetrahedron model for the corresponding Mg-acetylcholine receptor. The results of the study confirm the important role of disulfide bonds in the optical behavior of acetylcholine receptor clusters. The Buffalo Bills will have to make a tough decision on the field in Week 17 after running back C.J. Spiller appeared to suffer a serious injury to his right leg. Spiller was removed from the game in the first half of the Bills' 20-16 loss to the New England Patriots on Sunday after he was flagged for a horse collar tackle on wide receiver Julian Edelman. The second-year running back remained on the ground as teammates gathered around him for several minutes before a cart was summoned. Spiller didn't return to the sideline after being examined on the field, and he did not return to action with the Bills on Monday morning, for which the team was fined $25,000 by the NFL. The player's status for the season is unclear. Bills coach Rex Ryan said after the game his team was "scared to death" of Spiller's injury. Spiller had been held out of practice for the past two days because of an injury to his left knee, which he suffered last week against the New York Jets. A running back since his junior year at Clemson, Spiller is third on the Bills with 871 yards and third with 4.6 yards per carry, helping guide the team to a 12-4 mark.
