Still, this 25th anniversary coin is much more than a mintage race in the making. Instead, it exemplifies the cooperative effort of a team of talented artists at the Denver Mint. Each coin portrays a different soldier from the 19th Infantry Regiment of the United States Army, a unit that served in such theatres as the Civil War, the Spanish American War, World War I and World War II. A proof coin displays polished, reflective surfaces and an antiqued finish with light blue accents. Cottons used in the coin's milling procedures are also significant to the ongoing manufacturing procedure of the US Mint's products. The Buffalo series Silver Proof coins are struck using the same proof-like qualities as the bullion coins, but are struck with the same proof-like surfaces on a planchet of pure silver. The obverse (heads) features a profile of an American bison, while the reverse (tails) is comprised of a representation of the American flag by artist R.W. Reed. Obverse: LIBERTY is at the top of the obverse, right, with the year of issue, 2018, behind her. On the left is the inscription SILVER BUFFALO and the weight, 10 oz. Reverse: This coin's reverse is a modern rendition of the original 1866 reverse design by Thomas Sully depicting the American Bison. It features the year of issue, 2018, as well as the American Buffalo (Bison americanus) on the top. An image of the American flag and the inscription UNITED STATES 6a5afda64c
