Trent Alexander-Arnold faced a lot of criticism when he joined Liverpool but at the time I thought it was unfair. When he first arrived at Anfield his style was, in many ways, overzealous, and sometimes a little rash, especially when he first arrived as a teenager at the Club. However, he has learnt from those experiences and has matured into an excellent right-back. He has had some great games in the World Cup, particularly in the games against Uruguay and France, but it was against Poland that he really stepped up his game. He was outstanding and his aerial ability was outstanding. He was magnificent and he showed why he is an England international. In many ways Trent was Liverpool's best player and I thought he was the best right-back in Europe. Trent is a great fan of Jürgen Klopp's system. It was tailor made for his style of play. I asked Mario Balotelli about the role he had at Liverpool and he said he did similar things there. Trent is Liverpool's best player when you look at his track record. Nathaniel Clyne is also a good right-back and he could play in England's back three, but the manager is not ready to use a full-back in England's front three, such as him. Trent is one of the best right-backs in the Premier League. He has come on a lot in the last two years. He was a big part of our success, and I think the Premier League is getting stronger and stronger with the right-backs. 'We have to change the mindset of how we play' Jürgen Klopp is the most important man in football for me at the moment. He is the best manager I have ever worked under. My relationship with him is fantastic. When I signed for Liverpool I said I would play for the boss 100%. I have done that and I have done everything he asked. I don't need any more motivation. I have never felt anything other than 100% being 100% ready for the moment I have to play. We are all the same. We have to play, win and then lose together. In some teams you feel like you are up against people. I always played for Liverpool against Spurs, Arsenal, Chelsea and Man City. We always did our best, and if we beat them we all stood up and celebrated together. Klopp made me believe that you can
