Locked In is the first truly two-player visual novel, simulating the breakdown of a marriage during lockdown. Two sides of the story: Each player controls a character as they argue their case. Multiple endings: Can you work together to settle the argument in an amicable way for your child? Real life: Based on interviews with real people in tense lockdown situations, and set in the UK about 3 weeks into a total lockdown. Controls Player 1: Up/down arrows or W/S, space to submit. Player 2: Mouse to select, click to submit.

Gameplay Choose one of two characters for each player: husband or wife, socialist or capitalist. The story is told in a series of short, numbered scenes. Read each one to discover what happens next. You can talk to each other through the game's narration system, where you tell each other what you're thinking. Multiple endings based on your choices. Real life inspired design: We based Locked In on real life interviews, and on our own interviews in lockdown situations. The choices you make in the game affect how you are judged by the characters based on real life interviews. And if you're hoping for a happy marriage Whether you find a marriage strong enough to survive the lockdown depends on the choices you make. Can you co-operate well enough to prevent the collapse of your marriage? 10mg is a collection of 10 minute long games, a tiny dose of something special.
