Given as input a file containing lines of the form `1|2 3|4 5|` I want to get the first and second number, where the first number is the head number, and the second number is the tail number.

I'm parsing the file with boost::spirit::qi, and I was wondering what should I do, if I want to make it work, without using boost::spirit::qi, but using what std::getline() expects, or something like getline(std::string
