Battle System In addition to free movement, combat has become more exciting by introducing the concept of "force link". Gathering your strength to send an attack to an enemy is now much easier. Now instead of the traditional battle, the players are given an action window to select attacks that can be linked together to form a single attack. Based on the concept of "force link", a normal attack can be followed by a charged attack, a special attack, an attack that damages multiple enemies with the same type of attack, a battle skill that deals damage to all enemies around you, and more. Customization You can freely customize your characters from head to toe. Equip armor that can make your character stand out among the many others, such as a luxurious suit made of leather. The appearance of your character can be customized from the set of hairstyles that you equip, to its facial expression. You can, of course, equip your character with weapons that fit your own play style. Character Growth Equipment obtained through battles and exploration (such as an addition of skills) can be directly used to expand your character. Harness Skills This is a skill that can be used only by characters equipped with swords. It will be useful for characters who rely on the attack power of a sword. The more the number of enemies on the field of battle increases, the more a skill will become activated. This skill is useful for characters who rely on swords. Body Armor A specialized armor that can greatly enhance your strength. It can reduce the damage of attack, increase your resistance to attack, and block attack. It is also equipped with additional abilities that may alter the flow of the battle. Space Magic As the name suggests, it is the magic power that is able to create infinite distances and short distances. It is advantageous to use when you wish to move your character to other worlds or when you wish to avoid the enemy attack. Prayer Magic The magic power that can carry out the process of committing a prayer to an object. It is indispensable in a party where some characters will be attacked by enemies. The prayer that the characters will use can be selected from the prayer menu. Raid Battle The battle that will arise when an invading enemy is attacking a town. Using the character that was protected in this battle, you can support a town by using skills. Battle Skill

the-trashcan-toys-2-0 Thu, 01 Jun 2011 14:27:40 +0000v216x1-mod-the-trashcan-toys-2-038645DownloadsFantasy World GameThis invention relates to a rigid rod-shaped, cleanable or disposable implement which is usable for handling, cleaning and, more particularly, drying and conveying loose material and loose cleansable articles. It is well known to handle and transport articles in a vacuum, utilizing vacuum suction for lifting and holding the articles. As compared with efficient handling and transport in air, vacuum handling provides reduction in the force needed to lift the article, improved communication between the article, the article handling implements and the vacuum cleaner, and makes it possible to handle larger and heavier articles. However, many articles cannot be conventionally handled because they are not readily susceptible of being lifted and handled by vacuum in a manner which is not laborious and which is effective in terms of lifting and holding the articles and of conveying the articles smoothly as they are conveyed to the vacuum source. One method of handling such articles is to form the article in a shape which is such that it is trapped or encapsulated in a vacuum. As will be described in more detail later, this is done by a process in which the article is dipped into a bath formed of solid particles. These solid particles are in a discrete state such that they cling to and adhere firmly to the articles being handled. The solid particles also form a weight which helps to hold the articles by the weight of the article. This technique cannot be effectively applied to a variety of materials because the articles might not adhere to the solid particles. Furthermore, the solid particles tend to cling to each other, forming relatively large clumps which are difficult to handle and sometimes even to dispose of. Since the article is enclosed and permitted to be moved by operating the vacuum source, any clumps must be handled as quickly as possible. This may not be achieved if the solid particles are clumped together.
