Actually I've found my tag in that strange word file and the line in that word document. So I believe that all is OK. Anybody can help me with that? A: That word file is part of a package. You could try with its unzip function: unzip -l package.zip | grep -i tag_file A: I just had a quick look at your files, and I don't see any.txt in the folder where your word file is. Even if that was the case, if you're searching for text, you should use grep You can even do it in VBA, for example in your on open function: Sub OnOpen() ' Returns the path to the file specified by the arguments. ' This function is called by the Worksheet.Open method. Dim mySrcFile As String Dim myDestFile As String Dim mySavedPath As String mySavedPath = "Z:\Test\test\download" mySrcFile = myDestFile & mySavedPath & "wps.docx" Call NewFile(mySrcFile, myDestFile) End Sub sub NewFile(mySrcFile as string, myDestFile as string) Dim myFile As String Dim fso As Object myFile = mySrcFile Set fso = CreateObject("Scripting.FileSystemObject") myDestFile = fso.BuildPath(mySavedPath, myDestFile) Const ForReading = 1 Set objfso = CreateObject("Scripting.FileSystemObject") Set objTextStream = CreateObject("ADODB.Stream") ' Open the source file and copy the content into the file objfso.OpenTextFile(mySrcFile, ForReading).CopyFromFile myDestFile ' Close the file objfso.Close ' Open the destination file and overwrite it objTextStream.Open objTextStream.Type = 1 objTextStream.WriteText myFile objTextStream.SaveToFile myDestFile, 2 objTextStream.Close Set objTextStream = Nothing Set objfso = Nothing End Sub Q: Creating new thread of class to be used in

I want to use sed or awk but in a "one-liner" to produce a result like above. A: Using awk: $ awk -F" |" '{$1=$1} END{print $0}' file Code: awk -F" |" '{$1=$1} END{print $0}' file In a large bowl, mix the flour, salt, and granulated sugar. Add the shortening, mixing with your fingers or a pastry blender until pea-size chunks remain. With a fork, stir in the water until the dough begins to pull together. Gently knead the dough two or three times on a lightly floured work surface. In a large bowl, beat the butter and brown sugar with an electric mixer on medium-high speed until light and fluffy, about 5 minutes. Reduce the mixer speed to medium-low; add the eggs, one at a time, scraping the bowl well and incorporating well after each addition. On low speed, add the flour mixture, alternating with the buttermilk, beginning and ending with the flour. Stir just until the dough begins to come together. Scoop the dough by about ¼ cupfuls onto the prepared baking sheets. Bake for 12 to 14 minutes or until set and the edges begin to brown. Let the cookies cool on the baking sheets for 5 minutes. Remove to wire racks to cool completely. Notes Cookies will keep for about a week in a tightly sealed container. They can be frozen before baking, but let them cool completely first.Q: Getting Cerne Abbas, since the 1950s, refers to a location on the south coast of the Dorset county, to the north of the village of Coggersdown. The village is mentioned, along with the nearby village of Great Camber, in the couplet: Beneath the cherry blossoms, and the pines of the glen, Came there the blood of Cain: The Domesday Book of 1086 records land there, but makes no mention of a village. The name of the village, Cerne Abbas, first appears on the survey map of William FitzMaurice in 1813. Its first recorded spelling is 'Cerne Abbas' in the Domesday Book of 1086. The name Cerne, in Old English, means "of the thorn". 'Abas' in Old English, means "valley". The village is located in the civil parish of Great Camber. Geography The village of Cerne Abbas sits within a rugged landscape, on the shoreline of the English Channel. The village can be accessed by car along the A351 from Camber and Rochford and the A354 from Sherborne. From the car park at the bottom of the lane, various walks lead into the surrounding natural countryside. History Medieval The toponym Cerne Abbas indicates the village is situated in a landscape where there are multiple hinterland regions, both to the north and the south. The village is located within two ancient land units, namely the barony of Gorhamstow and the Manor of Camber and Durnford. The hillside at the southern end of the village has several Neolithic, Bronze Age, Iron Age and Iron Age hill fort, three of which are known. The A351 road crosses the western slope of the hill and the village of Flamstead. There are excellent views of the village
