The product comes with advanced technology, thus it runs faster than other similar utilities in the market. Recently I have had a problem after my PC has been a few hours working on the it's self and comes up with a message (does not make the computer crash). Sometimes the message will come up and will say that the message was sent by a "Unknown". In this message it will say the error code that is #654. I am researching for the problem, but I have not found any information on it yet. If you know what this problem is, or if you know where I can find information on this, I would greatly appreciate it. I don't know if you guys have experienced this or not. But when I try to use internet for the search, I will always get an error message saying "Unable to connect to the requested host". I have tried turning off my firewall and also have restarted my computer. It did not help. When I call +1-877-869-8176, they say they have no record of anyone getting billed for minutes that far back. I had this problem recently, and wasn't able to get it resolved. I was pretty sure that something was up with my computer because it would randomly freeze, or the Internet wouldn't even load for some reason. And some of the time it would say "loading web page...". So far, the only thing I've been able to do is reinstall Windows. I was trying to load up my bank website (I use Chase) but it wouldn't load. I just kept getting a "500 error". The only way I've been able to open my account is through their website. I have been getting this a lot lately. "Error" "Can not open web page" "message" "segmentation fault", and other things. I have been going to my routers page (the one you access through the wireless internet) and seeing "Login Error". (I actually have no idea what
