(Part 1) By Robert Kaminski, The Cincinnati Enquirer Tuesday, November 26th, 2008 When the nurse came to examine me, I was lying on the bed, with my bladder exposed. She asked me to lift up the coverlet, so she could see my penis. I did as she asked, but my eyes widened in surprise. She kept asking me, "Does this look right to you? Do you feel that's right? Do you think we should check something?" The nurse was a tall, healthy-looking African American woman. I realized that a mistake was being made and I started to protest. A new nurse came in to take my blood pressure, and told me to stand up. I stood up. The nurse walked around to the other side of the bed and began to rub my back. "Do you have any problems with urination?" "No." "Do you have any discharge?" "No," I said, quickly grasping that they were looking for problems. � aa67ecbc25
