They left bookstores all over the country in the exact same state, functional but empty.

They made the suits on the 6th floor listen and take notes. I wouldn't even dally over the new releases at the Austin Road Books or the St. Marys, Grace or Downtown Books. Instead, browsing used books and talking to the cool baristas at Half and Half, I would get an hourly fix of 5.9 cream and cappuccino from Verdura at City O' City. There was nothing
