Ceja is Spanish for "eyebrow". It is not a random or completely made up word. I've written about it before. It means seeing beyond what seems obvious, or as in my book it means seeing the invisible. Whether you're in the real world or the spiritual realm, knowing what's truly within is an important trait. It is necessary to know what's going on beyond what we perceive. To see the invisible is to see beyond the obvious physical things that we all see. For example, if you dig in the dirt you will see all the minerals that make our world. What you will find is that this dirt is alive! There's grass, roots, and tiny bugs that we can't see but they can see us. We are literally "seeing" what was not always as evident in the real world. It is a great way to practice being in the moment, to be in your senses, and not just what is in front of you. Being able to see what is within, is the first step in overcoming what is not within. Think about it- have you ever had this experience? I have and you probably have, too. We've heard this expression, 6d1f23a050
