I used the internet site maker to download CompuPic Pro 6.22.The present invention relates to a metal-containing catalyst for the polymerization of olefins comprising a solid support impregnated with a mixture of two components, (i) titanium tetrachloride and (ii) an organometallic compound capable of generating titanium tetrachloride on contact with the titanium tetrachloride, as well as to its use for the polymerization of olefins. It is known that catalysts based on transition metals of group IV of the Periodic Table, for example, titanium tetrachloride, are capable of forming olefin polymers, for example, polyethylene, or copolymers of ethylene with.alpha.-olefins. It is also known that catalysts based on a titanium compound on a solid support, for example, silica gel impregnated with titanium tetrachloride, are capable of forming olefin polymers or copolymers of ethylene with.alpha.-olefins, in particular, with propylene. It has now been found that these two catalytic systems can be combined to form a catalyst capable of forming olefin polymers or copolymers of ethylene with.alpha.-olefins, in particular, with propylene, according to a simple process.Q: Linq to SQL - How to store a list of objects and the 'key' attribute in a table I'm running into a problem creating a table that is a list of items. The objects I'm creating have a FK to a master object for the PK. The master object has a list of possible keys for the FK in the master object. I would like to have a table to store the master object and its list of keys c6a93da74d
