Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted Release Date: April 29, 2011 Language: English Run Time: 128 min. Budget: $115 million MPAA Rating: Rated PG Featuring an eclectic mix of voice talent with comedy heavyweights Chris Rock, David Schwimmer, and Jada Pinkett Smith taking the lead roles alongside more surprisingly a dream cast of artists, musicians, designers, and filmmakers, Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted is the most all-inclusive animated family film you'll see this holiday season. In addition to its traditional animation style, Madagascar: Most Wanted is visually diverse, hopping effortlessly back and forth from 3-D to underwater scenes, zooms of the characters through the jungle, and the widest shots imaginable. The point is, this is a fantasy film that's as grown up as the cartoon characters playing around in it. With Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted, director Brad Bird has done something remarkable. Rather than follow the trend of continuing the story of a returning character, he's given us an original world and characters instead. That's a rarity in the studio space, and it's a major change of pace that's well worth a watch. It might not be the best in the franchise, but it's still a successful addition that even the casual cinephile will enjoy. From DreamWorks Animation, the studio that brought you Shrek, Monsters, Inc. and Kung Fu Panda comes Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted, an all-new, live-action adventure where the four lovable tito animals—Alex, Gloria, Melman and Marty—along with the rebellious Belle—try to escape from the clutches of a crazy scientist. On route to Monte Carlo, France, to break their free, they are joined by cocky, one-eyed Philippe, and as more unlikely animal companions join their journey, the action-packed comedy stars the voice talents of Chris Rock, David Schwimmer, Jada Pinkett Smith, David Hyde Pierce, Paul Haddad and Geth as well as such stars as Tom Cruise, Owen Wilson, Jessica Alba and Woody from Toy Story. Starting with Fox and Amblin Television, the film will be distributed by Warner Bros. Pictures.

Celebrated renowned animator, director, producer, Madagascar illustrator, Kevin Eastman, has been producing a series of short videos titled The New Yorker Cartoonists Sketchbook. The goal of the sketchbook is to showcase the artists work in progress. So far, six volumes of sketches have been released in chronological order of creation of each artist. While most of the sketches are done with a pencil, some are completed using various software applications for coloring and digitally compositing. Each volume in the series has become a large bestseller on Amazon. According to Eastman, it's fun to watch his process and the sheer volume of ideas that are in his sketchbook. The artist finds it somewhat challenging to sit down and realize one day that all of his ideas have been created. The New Yorker Cartoonist Sketchbook Vol. 1 is available for download with the second volume being released on Monday, June 25th. Disney and DreamWorks took the can-do spirit and energy of Madagascar to a whole new level with Madagascar 3: Europes Most Wanted. The film follows the same storyline as the first two Madagascar movies, including a trip to Paris and a banana-powered airplane, but now the action sets sail across the vast open water. The fourth animated Madagascar film is also one of the fastest in the franchise, with a running time of approximately one hour and 23 minutes. After a nearly three-year hiatus, the sequel opens June 22nd, 2012. Over the summer of 2014, anyone who buys a DOLE Banana in all U.S. markets will be instantly entered to win a cool trip for two to Paris to see the first movie in theaters in 3D! Banana fans will be automatically entered, making this one of the most convenient and fun ways to check out the new Madagascar movie!
