overall review: love how it is so small and cute and compact yet shoots great pics and videos. i have been taking it underwater and it works great. one thing i did notice is that i couldn't get on my pc at work to transfer the videos out to edit them or view them anywhere. i returned it for a dvc-wp03 even tho i loved it. fortunately i had a second one i could use for learning. overall review: if i was going to buy another cam i would look for something much bigger, at least 40-50 megapixels. i know it has more features then my waterproof canon mg4, but with out a bigger sensor, its still smaller, lighter and no noisy cam. overall review: i was looking for a small inexpensive camera to use in the pool and this came through. i bought it and immediately had the best experience i had ever had with a camera. the sd card reader is small so it fits in your pocket. the pictures are great. i would highly recommend it. overall review: it is a small camera, very easy to use and is great for video. however, it is not the best thing for still images. picture quality is good but is not the best out there. for underwater video, the viewfinder is also a good thing to have. it is small and easy to use and will fit in your pocket. you have to think of when you are going to use it. what is sony spvd012 usb driver? sony spvd012 usb driver is a driver developed by sony for use with your computer to play movies and images captured by your sony dcr-pc108 (dcr-pc108e). sony spvd012 usb driver allows the sony dcr-pc108 (dcr-pc108e) to capture movies in the high definition (hd) format (which is also know as avchd) and sd. sony spvd012 usb driver also allows the sony dcr-pc108 to record and playback these movies and images that you are viewing on your computer as well as recording in movies. the sony dcr-pc108 (dcr-pc108e) is a digital video camcorder that was released on the market in december 2003, and is a still photograph camera. the sony dcr-pc108 (dcr-pc108e) boasts many exciting features and is one of the lightest digital video cameras ever made. for more information on this camcorder, check out our dcr-pc108 article . 5ec8ef588b
