by selecting this category, then searching for the specific vendor, you'll limit your results to only those vendors in that category. so, the next time you need to make a few purchases, be sure to list your vendors in this order. there's certainly no shortage of stuff on their site, there are a million sections, from forklift attachments to zip strips to connectors, you'll find tool kits, hand tools, wiring, plumbing, fasteners, and much more. their standard connectors have always had the answer for any situation, hinge fitting adapters; hinge fitting adapters were previously offered by suppliers, but it was necessary to use kits of parts and be at the mercy of the suppliers service to get them, that's why they made a big deal about their online catalog, now you can either order online, or if you want to order by phone, they'll still carry a very small inventory of parts, in case you get an order and the supplier runs out. that means when you order, you'll get it much faster. they claim the turnaround time of their items is 24 hours. [ed note: the average it takes to ship is sometimes 7 days or more, and there may be more tasks involved in getting a shipment ready for shipping than just sending it.] hardware lists you can limit your search to a particular category of parts (a set of 12 12 12mm body sleeves, for example) or a certain part number (e.g., 8184); or you can just choose all the parts under one heading. if you're looking for more than just a part in a particular catalog item, you can find a part from another catalog item. say you've got a radiator that needs a replacement fan. you can look up the entire catalog and find a fan. save a lot of phone time by not having to dial a number and explain the situation.

while their tool does have a bit of a steep learning curve and there are some quirks in its interface, it's still an amazing tool that should make many of us look twice at the parts that we use and how easy it could be to make that part at a third of the cost. mcmaster-carr's tou is very fair as well, if there is something you find that you really do not want to reproduce, they will happily sell you the file for that off their servers for you to do so. for example, a person could buy the file for a single porthole for his desk. mcmaster-carr allows it for you to use an exterior door that you could no longer use. instead of trying to sell that to a person, they might have you pay for the door, resell it for a profit, and split the proceeds with mcmaster-carr. although no company is perfect, mcmaster-carr is particularly so. how many times have you ordered something online, and found out at the last second that you forgot to cancel and they didn't automatically remind you when you signed up? mcmaster-carr isn't one of them. they have an amazing system of reminders when you sign up and are trying to make an order. i am currently using a sercon mm4-08 in my kit. i've had the same ones for the past 7 years and they are still working fine, even with some wear. these days, i always clean them with my dremel brush/s to keep clean. i use new top offs once every 1-2 years, maybe more if it's really dusty. i have these in a large box of 20 in a box and have been using them for years. i purchased a replacement bearing and related parts from mcmaster-carr for around $55. last week i had to order a new mounting yoke. it turns out i still had an old one i had probably bought in the early 2000's that i had just never used. my parts guy found the newer yoke online and provided a cut to print and assemble the part. mcmaster-carr's quality parts have been great! thanks mcmaster-carr!! 5ec8ef588b
