Also in this release, we're introducing a new feature to Photoshop Per Channel, giving you perfect control of color in any layer with the ability to zero in on each color. You can now work in 32-bit floating point color, and never look back, because the choices are simply right in front of you. You can also quickly apply a hard light or soft light to any adjustment layer. Finally, in this release, we are introducing Design Review. Although Creative Cloud members can already work with designers through a shared gallery, this feature will let them see what their work will look like all at once. It can also be used to review layers and channels so you can make meaningful refinements to your layers and channels - such as moving a Gradient Overlay to a new layer. Complementing these new features, we've improved our art board browsing experience to help you navigate, display, and work with imagery. We've also added enhancements to depth of field control, highlight blending modes, presets and filters, and artificial intelligence to help you achieve stunning results. In addition, we've improved shape tools and the ability to copy and paste layers. In short, we've added more capability, improved your ability to work with layers and channels, and increased our commitment to provide you with more tools to create incredible images.
